

*Some people settle for far less than God's best for them and their best for God because they do not have a vision
beyond their current adventure*

March 23

“We’ve heard about you. We know that God is with you, and that you will win.” That is what Rahab told her two visitors that day. She knew that these two were scouts, sent by a powerful invading force that no one had been able to resist. She also knew the reason for their victory was that God was on their side. Rahab’s life, her city, was about to change forever. What would she do? She offered her help to the Israelites, and asked them to remember her and her family during the invasion. Because Rahab had a vision beyond her current situation, her adventures had only just begun.

Life is dynamic, always changing, sometimes good, sometimes bad. Change is a normal part of our journey. Like Rahab, we need to have a vision beyond our current situation. This begins as we offer ourselves to God and get in step with His plan for our life. Change is coming and we don’t have to fear it when we are joined to God’s plan.

Prayer for Today

Father, I know I can trust You with my future. Please show me how to prepare for the next adventure You have for me, and show me how to join my life to Your work. Please give me a vision beyond my current adventure.
